NORTH-EAST SITE LEADER WORKING SESSION

From Flags to Ownership

Catching it before anyone has to ask: routines, escalation, and the next two weeks

1. Tutor
2. Site Leader
3. Program Manager

Gold slide = your turn to talk.

STOP & JOT · 2 MIN

Think of the last flag you got from the region. When did you first know about it, and who knew before you did?

Write it down. Don’t share yet. We’ll come back to it.

START WITH WHAT'S WORKING

Scholars are showing up, and they love it

827	2,791	90.5%	97.8%	93.9%
scholars served this year	tutoring sessions delivered	scholar attendance (goal: 80%)	of delivered sessions have a tutor survey	of scholar ratings are 4 or 5 out of 5

This is the foundation. Survey completion is a routine your tutors already own. That's proof the region can build habits that stick.

WHAT SLIPPED IN THE LAST TWO WEEKS

Attendance isn’t the problem. Reliability is.

	Oct 5 – 16	Oct 19 – 30
Sessions cancelled	38	116
Cancelled with no reason entered	0	39
Sessions with no tutor (vacancy)	18	41
Scholar misses because the tutor was absent	137	189
Scholars kept in class by a teacher	90	118
Missed reason left blank	6	24
Sessions still “Incomplete” in Pearl	0	33

Scholar attendance held

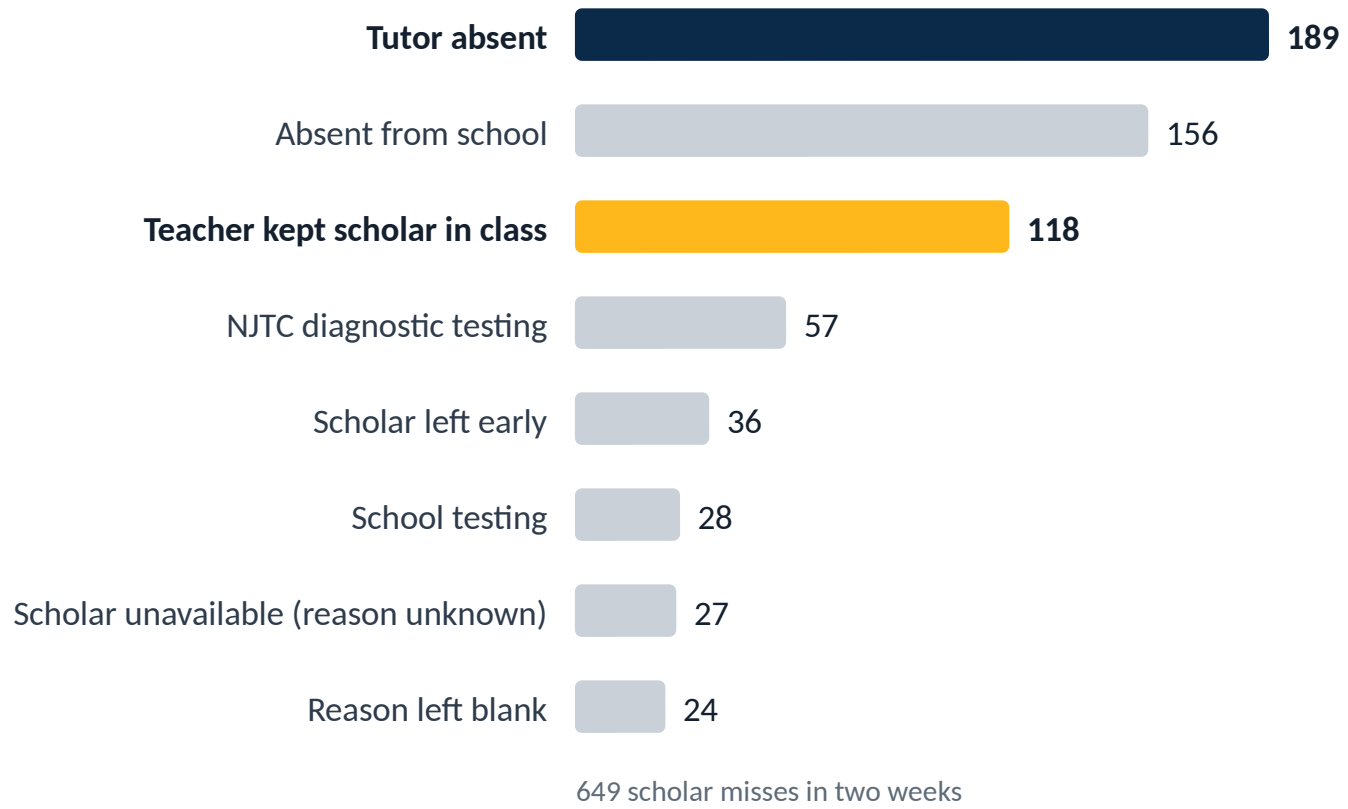

92.2% → 90.1%

Still well above the 80% goal.

What slipped is everything around the session: coverage, cancellations, and closing the loop in Pearl. Those are ours to own.

The #1 reason was us, not them

Tutor absence

More scholars missed because their tutor was out than because they were absent from school. Reporting early and a coverage plan fix this.

Teacher pull-outs

This is a relationship conversation. The Site Leader owns it with the teacher first, and the PM takes it to administration only if it keeps happening.

TURN & TALK · 3 MIN

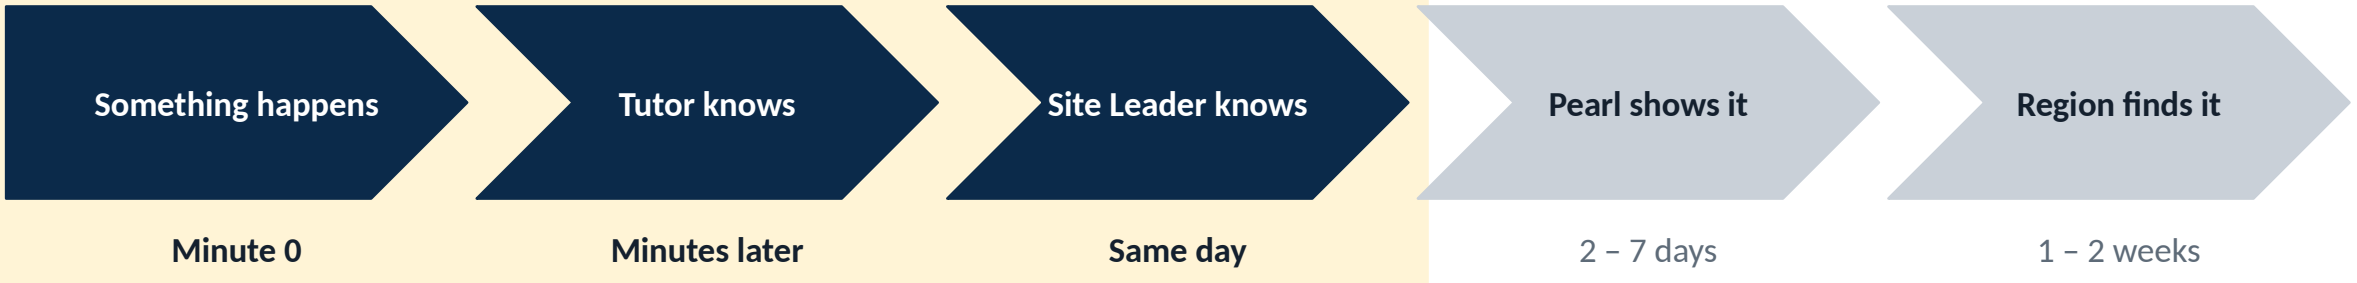

Which of these is showing up at your site? What's one cause behind it that Pearl would never show us?

Partner with someone from a different campus. Each person gets 90 seconds.

REFRAME

A flag is a conversation that happened too late

CATCH IT HERE

When a flag reaches the region, the problem has already cost scholars a session, and someone has to stop and chase it. Our job is to move the catch to the left.

Proactive means the region hears it from you first, with what you already did about it.

WHO OWNS WHAT

Clear owners stop the chasing

1 Tutor

OWNS THE SESSION

- Closes every session in Pearl before leaving the building
- Tells the Site Leader before a session if late or out
- Picks the honest missed reason (“Unavailable” when unsure)
- Has the lesson plan ready before walking in
- Raises roadblocks to the Site Leader the same day

2 Site Leader

OWNS THE SITE

- Checks coverage every morning before the first block
- Sweeps Pearl at end of day: nothing left Incomplete
- Cancels whole-group sessions in Pearl, with a reason
- Owns teacher relationships and repeat pull-outs
- Clears Site Leader Flags by Wednesday each week

3 Program Manager

OWNS THE REGION

- Reviews Site Leader Flags weekly with each site
- Answers every escalation within 24 hours
- Leads conversations with partner administration
- Makes schedule and roster changes in Pearl
- Documents concerns when coaching hasn’t worked

Every session, every day: before, during, after

1 Before

10 minutes ahead

- Open Pearl: check today's schedule and roster
- Lesson plan ready for every group
- Room confirmed; if not, tell the Site Leader now
- Running late or out? Text the Site Leader before the session, not after

2 During

In the session

- Start on time; collect scholars if needed
- Mark attendance as scholars arrive
- Note anything that blocks learning (behavior, room, roster)

3 After

Before leaving the building

- Close every session: attendance, missed reason, survey
- Not sure why a scholar missed? Pick "Scholar Unavailable." Never leave it blank
- Write a comment for admin if anything needs follow-up
- Tell the Site Leader about any roadblock today

Nobody leaves the building with an open session.

TURN & TALK · 3 MIN

Which step do your tutors skip most? What would make it automatic by next week?

Be specific: a time, a place, a reminder, a person. “Remind them” doesn’t count.

THE SITE LEADER RHYTHM

A week where the region never has to ask

Daily

MORNING

Coverage check before the first block: who's out, who covers, what to cancel

MIDDAY

Walk into at least one session

END OF DAY

Pearl sweep: no session left Incomplete, no blank reasons

Weekly

MONDAY

Open Site Leader Flags and the Support Report for your school

WEDNESDAY

Flags cleared, or escalated with a plan

THURSDAY

Lesson plans checked for next week

FRIDAY

Teacher touchpoint on pull-outs or schedule changes

Every two weeks

PM CHECK-IN

Bring your own snapshot: what's working, top two flags, what you did, what you need

Escalation: who, when, and how

Escalating isn’t passing the problem up. It’s bringing it up early, with what you already tried.

THE ESCALATION LADDER

Solve it at your level. Raise it one step when you can’t.

1 Tutor

Raise to your Site Leader

BEFORE THE SESSION

Late, out, no room, whole group gone, any safety worry

Same day: behavior, roster, Pearl problems

2 Site Leader

Raise to your Program Manager

WITHIN 24 HOURS

Safety (same day), a session you can’t cover, same issue twice with no fix

Anything that needs a principal’s decision

3 Program Mgr

Raise to partner administration

WITH A PLAN

Patterns that cost dosage: pull-outs, schedule, space

Safety: alongside the school’s own process

4 Partner admin

Decides for the school

ONE NJTC VOICE

Schedules, rooms, teacher expectations, school safety process

Every escalation gets an answer back down the ladder within 24 hours: PM to Site Leader to tutor.

Three questions decide when to escalate

1	Is anyone unsafe?	ESCALATE NOW	Tell your Site Leader and follow the school's process. The Program Manager hears it the same day.
2	Will a session be missed?	BEFORE IT STARTS	Tutor tells the Site Leader. The Site Leader covers, regroups, or cancels in Pearl with a reason.
3	Has it happened twice?	MOVE IT UP ONE STEP	Once is a moment. Twice is a pattern. Bring it up with the four-line message.

If the answer to all three is no: solve it at your level, and mention it at your next check-in.

HOW TO RAISE IT

The four-line escalation

1. What happened

   Facts, dates, who. One or two sentences.

2. What I already did

   Shows ownership. Never skip this line.

3. What I need

   A decision, a conversation, a fix in Pearl.

4. By when

   So the answer comes before the next session.

EXAMPLE · SITE LEADER TO PROGRAM MANAGER

What happened: The 6th-grade math group was kept in class by their teacher for 3 of the last 4 sessions (10/21, 10/23, 10/28).

What I did: Met with the teacher on 10/24. We agreed on a pull-out time, and it happened again on 10/28.

What I need: You to raise the period-3 schedule with the principal.

By when: Before Monday's sessions.

SCENARIO SORT · PAIRS · 10 MIN

Who owns it, when, and who's next?

With a partner, sort each card:

- Who owns it first?
- How fast: now, today, or this week?
- If it isn't solved, who's next on the ladder?

We'll debrief four of these together.

A

7:40 a.m. A tutor texts that they're sick. They have four sessions today.

B

The same group has been kept in class by their teacher three sessions in a row.

C

A scholar writes in a survey that other kids "are being mean to me."

D

An assembly is announced at 8 a.m. The whole period-3 group will be gone.

E

A tutor's sessions from yesterday are still "Incomplete," for the second time this month.

F

A tutor hasn't turned in lesson plans for two weeks.

G

The principal stops you in the hall: "Starting Monday, tutoring moves to 5th period."

H

A frustrated tutor wants to email the principal about losing their room again.

SCENARIO DEBRIEF

Four that trip people up

C A scholar says other kids are “being mean to me”

TODAY

Tutor tells the Site Leader today. The Site Leader tells the classroom teacher or counselor following the school’s process, and tells the PM the same day.

D An assembly takes the whole group

BEFORE THE SESSION

Tutor tells the Site Leader right away. The Site Leader cancels in Pearl with “School Event/Assembly.” Not a missed session, and no escalation needed.

G The principal moves tutoring to a new period

SAME DAY

Don’t agree on the spot: “Let me loop in my PM so we get it right.” The PM confirms with administration and updates Pearl.

H A tutor wants to email the principal

SAME DAY

Tutor goes to the Site Leader, not administration. The Site Leader solves the room today. If it repeats, the PM raises it. One NJTC voice.

WHAT WE'LL LOOK FOR BY THURSDAY, NOV 19

Six signs a site is running proactively

- [ ] No session left Incomplete overnight
  Tutor closes it; Site Leader sweeps

- [ ] No blank missed reasons
  "Scholar Unavailable" when the reason is unknown

- [ ] Every cancellation has a reason
  Cancelled by the Site Leader, before the session

- [ ] Tutor absences reported before the session
  With a coverage plan, not an apology

- [ ] Site Leader Flags cleared by Wednesday
  Or escalated with the four-line message

- [ ] The region hears it from the site first
  Nobody has to reach out to ask

We'll look at the Site Leader Flags view together on the 19th. The goal is a short list, not a perfect one.

EVERYBODY WRITES · 5 MIN

Fill in your commitment card: one flag to eliminate, one routine to start Monday, one thing you need from your Program Manager.

Then a whip-around: one sentence each. “At my site, starting Monday, I will…”

If the region finds it before the site does, we’re late.

Next check-in: Thursday, Nov 19. Bring your snapshot and your commitment card.
